ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

A camp of the Modern Woodmen of America was instituted in Derby recently with thirty-eight charter members.

The Rev. Bishop J. S. McLeod, of Burlington, who is ill at the Fann-Allen hospital, was able to ride out Saturday.

The collector of the town of Sunderland has been paying a visit to delinquent taxpayers in Bennington. He reports there is one man living there who owes Sunderland $1,800 in back taxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Walden H. Farr, of Westminster, have sold their farm in that town and February 1 will become assistant superintendent and assistant matron of the Kins Hotel in Boston where there are now forty boys.

During the month of December the duties collected in the customs district of Vermont amounted to $47,938.52. For the corresponding period in 1906, the duties were $48,872.72. The merchandise exported through the district last month was valued at $539,726.

COMMODITY OF LABOR

A Proposition That Must Be Recognized.

TO GAIN INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

Seller of Labor Should Receive Same Consideration as Vendor of Merchandise—When Interests of Employer and Employee Come to Be Identical.

Trades unionists recognize that there are many relationships between employer and employee which are kindred or even identical. They do not in the main seek to divide society upon horizontal lines of cleavage. They are believers in the fundamental principles of democracy, which stand for the protection of equality of property rights as well as for personal freedom. They seek reasonable reforms rather than nebulous and irrational revolutions, destructive of many of the things upon which the very structure of civilization is based.

Human nature is not ideal, and until it becomes so an ideal order is impossible. If men were angels, it would not matter what kind of a government was instituted or even if no government at all existed. But in our everyday world the power vested in men to control the acts of others must be adjusted to the complex nature of real men with their admixture of good and ill.

The trades unions are the most effective and practical force yet devised for the benefit of the laborer. The labor problem, so called, is simply a part of the greater problem of human life, of human relationship, and as such cannot well be differentiated from that problem. Trades unionism seeks to develop justice between men in their industrial relationships in particular, it tries to teach wage earners that they can do better for themselves by trying to help lift one another up rather than by following the policy of each one for himself and the devil take the hindmost. It tries to convince the employer that it is for his interest to treat his employees as men rather than as parts of machinery; that it is wise business policy to recognize the fact that there should be two sides to the labor bargain as well as in other bargains; that, although he has a legal property right in his shop and machinery, he has no property right in the laborers of whom he buys labor, but he has a moral responsibility to deal justly with them.

Trades union philosophy, therefore, reaches this conclusion: that while in many ways the man who buys and the man who sells labor may have identical interests—for instance, in their political, religious, educational, fraternal, charitable and many other relationships—yet as parties to the bargain they must make for the commodity of labor their interests are by no means identical any more than are the interests of the man who goes into a store to buy goods from the storekeeper. The storekeeper wants to get his price, the buyer wants to get his price. In order to do business they must reach a point of agreement, but that is all.

Something very analogous to this exists in the labor world. The laborer has something to sell, for which he wants the best possible price warranted by the conditions. Conversely the buyer wants to get this commodity at the lowest possible price. Here may be and usually is a reciprocal interest, but by no stretch of the imagination can that statement be true which is so often told us, that "the interests of the employer and the employee are identical."

If by no means follows that because of this economic diversity of interests the two parties to the labor bargain should go to war about it. There is a better way, and the industrial world is learning it, although at the cost of much bitter experience on both sides. The industrial agreement is being substituted for the strike. John Mundella, the great apostle of arbitration in Great Britain, well said: "We cannot expect industrial peace until we treat the man who has the commodity of labor to sell with the same consideration we treat the man who comes to us with any other commodity." And it is not the least of the triumphs of the trades union philosophy that this wisdom of Mr. Mundella is becoming more and more appreciated by the fair minded capitalists of industry in America.

Trades unionism seeks high wages, reasonable leisure, fair conditions, the abolition of child labor and the general well being of the wage earner.

It believes this to be the best for the entire community as well as for the worker. Money paid in wages returns back into the channels of trade, stimulating production and quickening business enterprise, while excessive profits on inflated corporation stock or trust monopolies are either accumulated or squandered in ways which do not benefit the public—Frank R. Foster.

LABOR'S BATTLE ROYAL.

The Saving of the Child Is the Mission of Trades Unions.

Nature starts all her children, rich and poor, physically equal. This, broadly speaking, is the opinion of many leading physicians. If the number of children born healthy and strong is not greater among the well to do classes than among the poorest, then it presents to us a very significant fact which completely revolutionizes many notions as to the great disadvantages of being born in the tenement.

What happens to the tenement child after his birth is quite another story. Nature is not responsible for that. She has done her best. If poverty or indifference or ignorance or sin blight her fair work, she stands unconcerned. But nature is not content in accepting a position in which she is simply exonerated. The violation of her law is followed by an unrelenting pursuit until the full penalty has been inflicted, for with nature there is no forgiveness of sin, and nature makes no class distinctions.

This equality at birth does not long favor the child of the slum and the tenement. Vital statistics quickly prove this statement. For the burden and the penalty of poverty and its accompanying evils fall most heavily upon the child. The lack of proper nourishment, of suitable clothing, of healthy sanitary conditions, makes life precarious for the babe who must suffer on account of their absence.

When such a state becomes chronic the chances for life are exceedingly small. Death's icy sweeps relentlessly through the ranks of little children, whose cry for food has chilled a thousand mothers' hearts. Then are hushed a thousand babies' voices who suffered long because there was no skillful hand to nurse and no healing balm to ease.

There is no battle more royal than the saving of the child. To bring color to the van check, to bring brightness to the dulled eye, to so much as bring a smile to the face that already bears the mark of pain and suffering—this is a task worthy of the best that is in any man.

Organized labor has this work given. No other mission can ever mean more than this. Strong should be the support given the trades unions in their endeavor to blot out the curse of child labor, and blighted should be every arm that is raised in protest against the warfare which means the salvation of little children from a bondage that is crushing out life and hope.—Rev. Charles Stielke.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The only thing any of us accomplish in this world is to be poor.

We have noticed that there is something the matter with everybody.

So many people who imagine they are pushing are really standing on the rope.

After winning a triumph over an enemy the next battle to fight is against an inclination to look it.

When a man is going wrong, his friends dislike to "speak to him" about it. But the devil has no hesitancy in "speaking to him" when the time comes.—Athenian Globe.

Flower and Tree.

The common snowflower is an American plant. Its original home is stated by eminent botanists to be Peru and Mexico.

The Japanese chrysanthemum, of which sixty-three are red, eighty-seven white, thirty-two purple, thirty red, thirty-one pale pink, twelve russet and fourteen mixed colors.

The greatest known depth at which any green plant grows in fresh water is reached by a moss called Thamnochloa, which has been lately "discovered" by Professor F. A. Forel 200 feet below the surface of Lake Geneva.

It Does the Business.
Mr. E. E. Chamberlain of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c at the Red Cross pharmacy, Rickett & Wells.

The Best Poultry Food.
The best Poultry Food made is none too good for the man who wants poultry to pay. "Pigeon's Perfect Poultry Food" has in it the ingredients which have been found especially valuable for laying hens. It is an honest food. Read what S. E. Penoyer of Constantin, N. Y., says about it: "I can truly say that 'Pigeon's Perfect Poultry Food' is the best Poultry Food that I ever fed to my hens."

Any one sending his address on a postal card to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., and mentioning this paper, will receive by mail, free, postpaid, a sample package of "Pigeon's Perfect Poultry Food."

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, they will be compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent in any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ, which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Neuhair's Herpicide. Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Neuhair's Herpicide.

Accept no substitutes. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect."
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to Neuhair's Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
Two sizes—25 cents and $1.00.

EXPLORERS SWIM MILE

TO RECAPTURE BOAT.

Russell Monett Expedition in Grand Canyon in Smash-Up.
Bright Angel, Grand Canon, Ariz., Jan. 10.—The boat in which Charles F. Russell and E. R. Monett started a few days ago down the Grand Canon from here was smashed in the Worst Rapids, which are fourteen miles below this point.

They have sent for sheet iron and will make repairs and continue on. Both men had to swim a mile after their boat. The men reached the head of Hermit Creek rapidly on Wednesday morning. Russell decided the fall too treacherous to try to shoot. The men tried to lower the boat by means of a long rope through the rough water. The terrific force of the current compelled them to let go the rope to save themselves being jerked into the rushing waters.

The men watched the boat float out of sight around the bend, and then started to follow. They rounded a point where they could go no further. To remain where they were meant death, so they decided they must get the boat to save their lives. Russell plunged into the water, followed by Monett, and they were hurled through a cataract into more placid waters, neither suffering a scratch.
